“ I love you Alexa with every ounce of my heart and soul. Saying goodbye to you was the hardest thing I've ever had to do. I miss you already beyond words and will only miss you more with each passing day for the rest of this lifetime. You were so much more than a cousin to me, you were my sister, my bestfriend, my partner in crime. Now all I have is our many memories we created and your pictures to bring me comfort. You will forever be carried in my heart and kept alive in my thoughts. I pray you rest in peace until we get to be together again. I love you beyond words Lexi. May your memory be eternal.
