“ I never got to know you, but I wish I did. For some reason I happen to think of you all the time. I remember when your little dog would jump on me and attack me with kisses, it's still a core memory of mine. I miss someone who I never got to know, but I do know that we would've been best friends. I hope you're proud of the person I've become, and I hope you're resting easy. Love you uncle. ”

“ I met you when I was 16. Almost ten years ago now. Some of my greatest memories growing up have been shared with you. Ive laughed my hardest with you and after last weekend I have cried my hardest with you. My memories of you will be nothing but found. I don't understand why this has happened and why we will never again be able to create more memories. But I do believe that you understand why. That for me is enough to stop questioning it. I'm going to miss you and your craziness. I still have your At the Drive In cd that you traded me for my Get Up Kids cd while on our way to drop you off at work. I think I will hold on to it. Introduce it to Marley at a young age and let her know that an amazing person introduced me to it. See you on the dark side if the moon <3

“ Eric I had the pleasure of talking with you on a few occasions. You are a genuine person and always remembered who I was when we ran in to each other. I know several people who will miss you dearly and my heart goes out to them. I have seen how much love your family has for you and I know they will carry your spirit with them forever.

“ Eric and I were good friends when we where in our early teens. Unfortunately as we got older we fell out of touch. About 2 months ago I randomly bumped into him at a party he gave me a big hug and we talked about the old times and what we had been up too in recent years. Running into him had really made my night and I told him we'd get together soon. I saw him a few times after that and he seemed happy and it was always great to see him. I will always look back on the times Eric,I, and our other friends had when we were 15 as some of the best times in my life. Eric was a great person and a kind soul and I will miss him greatly. Rest Easy My Friend.

“ Eric, I listened to a lot of music tonight and thought about you. I thought about how every time I saw you and how great it was to see your smiling face and also how great it was that every time I bumped into you, you always greeted me with a smile and remembered me. As I listened to the music tonight, I cried a bit and I felt okay about that too, because at least I got to share a moment with you, where ever you may be, and I know you're still smiling now and I know that our moment is real. RIP sweet boy
