Iris V. Perez

Loving Mother, Grandmother and Great Grandmother

LOWELL—Iris V. Perez, 60, a Belvidere resident, passed away on Wednesday, November 24, 2010 at her home, surrounded by her loving family, following a brief and valiant battle with cancer.

“As I was thinking about you today, I began to wonder whether you realize how much you are a part of me. You might not know how deeply your values and your actions have really influenced my character or be aware of how many ways your words still speak to my heart...

But, Mom, as surely as the sun causes the budding flowers to blossom, you have shaped and influenced my life. Your very presence has made us who we are today... a family who loves you very much.”

Iris is survived by her children, Sergio Perez, David Perez, Moriamia Perez all of Lowell, and Maria Vargas of Revere; many grandchildren; a sister, Veronica Landeverde of Fla. and a brother, Jose Vargas of Ponce, Puerto Rico.

At Iris’ request, private family services took place. As an expression of sympathy, donations in Iris’ memory may be made to the V.N.A. Hospice of Greater Lowell, 336 Central Street, Lowell, MA 01852. ARRANGEMENTS BY THE FAY McCABE FUNERAL DIRECTORS, 978-459-9222. www.faymccabe.com

“ My deep heart sympathies go out to Iris' family. I worked with Iris a few years ago and always found Iris to be a very kind person and a wonderful caregiver.
