“ *Hello my little sis,
I cannot believe i had to say goodbye to you the other day. You looked good, and your eyebrows were done perfectly! You would've said so.
You had a lot of people there from our family, and friends who were part of your life, we were all suffering for you that day. At least you are now with Dad, Eddie, and Mom. You can finally smile again. I don't know how else to say this, but this really hurts me, Jeannette, having to bury my baby sister. I tried my hardest to let you know you were loved by me, and tried my best to let you know that you were a valuable human. You know that. You can't deny that.
But, the time has come to say goodbye. Hold my spot in Heaven, I've still got a life to live and believe me, you'll be in my heart, soul, and mind every day until we meet again.
I love you Jeannette,
Your big sister...Arlene*
